

THE NEW YORKER

SUBSCRIBE

THIS WEEK'S ISSUE

NEWS

CULTURE

POLITICS

BOOKS & FICTION

THE FRONT ROW

PHOTO BOOTH

THE BOOK BENCH

CLOSE READ

DAILY COMMENT

JOHN CASSIDY

THE NEW YORKER | ARTS & CULTURE | EVENTS

GOINGS ON ABOUT TOWN: CLASSICAL MUSIC

RUSSIAN CHAMBER CHORUS OF NEW YORK: "MUSIC WITHOUT BORDERS"

Nikolai Kachanov's group explores music from what was once called Russia's "sphere of influence"—compelling modern music by the Russian composer Georgy Sviridov, the contemporary Georgian master Giya Kancheli ("Senseless War," with the Hudson Saxophone Quartet), and the legendary Armenian bard Komitas.

(Church of the Holy Trinity, 316 E. 88th St. May 20 at 5. Tickets at the door. Note: A repeat performance will be given at Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church on May 22. rccny.org.)

May 20 – May 20

CHURCH OF THE HOLY TRINITY
316 E. 88th Street, New York, NY
holytrinity-nyc.org